

Mt. Washington Community Council May 2017 Membership Meeting

Reports	Presenter	Summary
Fire	Tom Klotter	3 Narcans in April, because of Fentanyl now use four milligram vial instead of two.; check smoke detectors - more people die because of smoldering smoke. Good to have the dual alarms - photoelectric included.
Police	Kevin Butler	Some of the overdoses are people who are traveling through the community, not necessarily community members.
CRC Report	Marcie	Summer camps still have room. Thursday June 1st for Budget and Finance Committee — Open Public Hearing

Zachary Hoffman, PUCO	Energy Choice Ohio: residents can choose what kind of energy suppliers they get. Renewable, or coal, etc. If you belong to DUKE, you can shop. Natural Gas is almost free. Electric is trickier. If you haven't shopped, there is a part of the bill that's called Price to Compare. That's exactly what you pay for usage, and take that cost - you take that and compare that to every other offer. Go to: energysource.ohio.gov Check out budget billing, variable rate and contracts. Cincinnati has an opt out option, having done the research itself — it could give you a good deal but you might do better on your own. If you are commercial, you'd do well to research it to save money. Consumer protection — PUCO can help if you connect with them within 30 days of doing anything. Slow down the process when the sales person gets overbearing. Feel free to call the call center:800-686-PUCO
Emily Sylvius, Mt. Washington Community Garden	Currently there are 12 beds on Oxford Street. It's been a positive experience - less crime and loitering where the park is. Expansion is Saturday to reach 20 families total - and to build a pollinator garden. See their Facebook page, Mt. Washington Community Garden. Thank you to the Masonic Lodge who donates the property.
Lisa Jackson, Jim Brossart HealthSource of Ohio	Report out on the new facility on Campus Lane. Investing over $2 Million in the property. Hopefully, construction will start mid-summer. There will be a total number of three providers. Front entrance is not ADA compliant so the main entrance and elevator is in the back. You can enter from either side by car since there are two driveways.
